Klein Devort Releases New Version of Precurio

LAGOS, NIGERIA (OCTOBER 20): Today, Klein Devort releases version 2.1 of its open source intranet software, Precurio.

Precurio version 2.1 introduces an integrated widgets platform that turns the entire intranet homepage into a container for user configurable widgets, and these widgets could even be from third party software vendors.

Also included in the new release are the following;

- A Forums module to facilitate discussions on the intranet
- An anonymous user feature that allows intranet administrators open or close certain parts of an intranet to non-users, giving their intranet some extranet like feature
- Multilingual Support with the Spanish language pack included and
- An additional free theme.

“Precurio 2.1 is a response to the feedback from our community. Customers will now have more control over their intranet start page and our developer community will be really pleased at the new widgets framework.” said Shola Akinlade, Co founder, Klein Devort.

The new release also sees the parent company, Klein Devort, introducing a cloud service based on Precurio version 2.1 that allows companies to run an office intranet without having to hire a webmaster or pay lots of money.
